Designing Inside the Box

Ballroom A

Stephen McDowell—FIDM

This presentation explores the many careers in Visual Communications, and the opportunities within this creative field in the Retail, Event Planning, Entertainment, and Exhibition industries. Participants will be led through a series of design and marketing challenges, including creating window display concepts for targeted companies, planning an in-store promotional event, and creating a pop-up store.

Critical Science in FCS

Ballroom B

Dr. Katy Blatnick-Gagne—Curriculum Center for FCS

Dr. Karen Alexander—Texas Tech University

Develop an understanding for the critical science approach in FCS and learn how to integrate it into your classroom to help students build high level thinking skills and find solutions to perennial problems.

Design Thinking Within the FCS Body of Knowledge

Cripple Creek

Jessica Teal—Windsor High School

Develop design thinking through leveraging technology, collaboration, idea generation, and building on ideas through the design process within the areas of Human Services, Hospitality and Tourism, and Visual Arts and Design tied to projects implemented such as Child Development Toy PBL, Catering Kitchen Remodel Challenge, and Recycle Redesign in Fashion.

Digital Scavenger Hunt with GooseChase

Front Range

Sahvanna Mease & Mary Mullikin—Vista Ridge High School

Create digital scavenger hunts for your students to engage with course materials, review, or work on team building skills. GooseChase is free for educators to use and allows students to use technology to complete challenges you have set. Choose from pre-made challenges and hunts or create your own, activities are limitless. This is a great tool for FCS teachers to engage students with vocabulary, complete lab scavenger hunts, or even add challenges to complete during field trips!
